Dear Parents & Guardians,

A new social media challenge directed at children has been circulating called the “Momo Challenge”. We are urging all parents and guardians to be aware of this challenge and all social media usage. The “Momo Challenge” is found across many social media platforms, as well as apps and streaming services geared towards children and young adults. This specific challenge invites children to perform tasks, which escalates to more violent and self-injurious behaviors. Throughout the challenge children are asked to provide photos to prove they have completed a task.

Please take the time to review all your children’s online and social media activities. While technology devices provide powerful tools for learning, discovery and fun, they must be monitored to ensure children are utilizing them appropriately and safely.

Sincerely,

Keith T. Neuhs
Superintendent
