→ Scout Me In

As a Parent, what do you most desire for your children? I'm sure helping them to build a sense of self confidence while at the same time instilling the values of empathy and kindness toward others is at the top of the list. Helping them to learn discipline, persistence, teamwork, and service are also basic goals of every parent. These are the things that put our kids on track for success, which is what we all want. Accomplishing this all while making friends, having fun, and creating lasting memories sounds even better. This is exactly what Cub Scout Pack 145 offers to you and your son.

Cub Scout-age children benefit from belonging to a small group of peers. Your son will be a part of a den of other Cub Scouts in the same grade level. Through this sense of belonging, children build self-esteem and learn to get along with others.

We know that kids don't join Cub Scouts for character building. They join for fun! Your child will learn great lessons but will be too busy enjoying to notice. As Scouts move up through the grade level ranks (K - 5) of Lion, Tiger, Wolf, Bear, Webelos, and AOL they work toward crossing over to Boy Scouts.

In each den, Scouts will earn Belt Loops for their advancements. The dens and families come together for pack meetings and events that feature games, skits, songs, ceremonies and presentations of the achievements that Cub Scouts earn. Some of our Pack events include the Pinewood Derby, Dinners & Banquets, Service Projects, Community Events, Pack Overnights and Pack Camp Outs which provide opportunities to introduce your family to the camping experience.
