Basketball

By: Nick Connell

Basketball is my paradise
It's like it's taken over my whole life
I ball 'till I fall
I'm dishing and swishing like Chris Paul
I just love to play that's all.

---

Baseball

By: Jordan Damiano-Florez

At the swing of the bat you hear crack
If you were the crowd you hear whack!
The roar of the stands is as loud as the band
As the bullet passes through
The birds scatter too,
HOME RUN!

My Joyful Live

By: McKenzie Patti & Mackenzie Johnston (Mrs. Carlstrom's Granddaughter)

Sadness swells in my heart
That day you came I jump for joy
The happiest days start with you.

You are the spark in the fire
You are the thunder and I'm the lightening
You're the light guiding me through the dark
You're the spark in my heart.

You're amusing thrill chills my heart
You're affection dings so tight
You've given my life a start.

Now you've given me butterflies in my stomach
The best days start and end with you.

Memorial Day Speeches

Memorial Day

By: Alia Wimmer Grade 3 Trush

The only reason I am free,
Is because the soldiers fought for me.

Sometimes we have barbecues with food and more,
People have a moment of silence,
To think of the ones that have gone before.

We celebrate with feelings of love,
The ones that have gone,
Are in a good place up above.

---

Finally Home

By: Jonathan Jardines Grade 3 Melhem

Veterans, thank you for your sacrifice and hard work. We honor the sacrifice you made for our country. We hope you are happy to come home. We also hope we will have world peace. Thank you for your service.

Freedom

By: Molly Gecek Grade 3 Price

We remember those who served our country. We celebrate this day in honor of all the brave men and women. We should all pray for them. When you see a soldier you should respect all they have done for us. 911 is important because so many people died for our freedom. Thank you for protecting our freedom.

Personification Poems by Mrs. Maurer's Class

I Am a Picture

By: Dylan Chacon

I am a picture.
I am able to dance.
I am happy when new pictures are added to the wall.
I am sad when I am alone.
I wish I could play with other pictures.
I would like to tell my owner to please get me a million friends.

---

I Am a Bike

By: Anthony Ferroni

I am a bike.
I am able to talk.
I am happy when my friend Anthony rides me.
I am sad when I am alone in the garage.
I wish I could fly.
I would like to tell my owner to please ride me more often.

I Am a Stuffed Animal

By: Ava Frommelt

I am a stuffed animal.
I am able to run fast.
I am happy when my owner hugs me at night.
I am sad when she leaves to go to school.
I wish I could talk to her.
I would tell her that I love her.

I Am a Pencil
By: Chad Kiesling

I am a pencil.
I am able to walk.
I am happy when Chad writes with me.
I am sad when no one is around.
I wish I could grow.
I would like to tell my owner to please open the pencil box and use me.

I Am a Stuffed Animal
By: Paige Lennox

I am a stuffed animal.
I am able to walk.
I am happy when I dance.
I am sad when no one plays with me.

I would like to tell my owner that I love her bike.

I Am a Beanbag Chair
By: Jimmy McLaughlin

I am a beanbag chair.
I am able to hop.
I am happy when children are sitting on me.
I am sad when no one is sitting on me.
I wish I could fly around the room.
I would like to tell my owner that I want to fly around the world.

I Am a Shirt
By: Billy Milligan

I am a shirt.
I am able to hold my arms up forever.
I am happy when Billy wears me.
I am sad when I am in the drawer.
I wish I could move my sleeves.
I would like to tell my owner to please open the drawer the put me on.

---

I Am an Eraser
By: Michael Milligan

I am an eraser.
I am able to talk.
I am happy when people use me.
I am sad when people draw on me.
I wish I could stay brand new.
I would like to tell my owner please do not rip me apart.

---

I Am a Smart Board
By: Vinny Pennello

I am a Smart Board.
I am able to drink soda.
I am happy when I am drinking root beer.
